OUR MISSION

Centre for the integration of Foreigners (CIC) is a civic association which helps foreigners with the integration into the Czech society. The mission of one of our programs - social counseling – is to help the immigrants who have been put at risk by their disadvantageous social situation.

THE GOAL OF SOCIAL COUNSELING

The goal of social counseling is to help immigrants to become independent, self-reliant and equal members of the society, who would manage to secure both their essential needs and a dignified standard of living, and fulfilment and welfare in the Czech Republic.

MAIN PRINCIPLES OF OUR WORK

- We respect the individuality of every human being (client or person interested in CIC services) and his or her perception of his or her own situation in the Czech Republic. We approach every person equally, regardless his or her origin, age, handicap, etc.
- We encourage and lead the client towards his or her independent decision making and individual responsibility.
- We do not give any information to the third parties – data, personal or other information, that are a subject of cooperation between a client and a social worker. These information cannot be passed on to a third party with prior consent of a client, where applicable (the only exception are law requirements). We do not involve a third party without the client's permission.
